Sudbury Canada Days this weekend in Bethel

Plans for the 9th annual Sudbury Canada Days, the Society's summer heritage festival to be held Aug. 13-14 are complete, with a wide variety of activities for all ages. Participants are always needed for the children's parade and for the children's games. Competitors are also needed for the badminton, horseshoe and croquet tournaments. Several videos emphasizing logging and heritage themes will be shown continuously through the afternoons on both Cable TV franchise days. Several artists are expected to display their work on the lawn of the Hastings house next to the Dr. Moses display in the Hastings barn next door to gest changes. the Dr. Mason House. Several craft demonstrators/exhibitors are expected to be present and all Oxford County and has recently acquired franchises for historical societies have been invited to display their pamphlets and books relating to the area's heritage. Saturday's events will be capped by the famous Log Driver's Bean Supper and the old-time variety show. Sunday's events will be highlighted by the old fashioned church service at the West Parish Congregational Church. Anyone wishing to participate or receive additional information about Sudbury CBN. Canada Days is urged to call the Society office at 824-2908.

Telstar High School is one of 23 high schools in Maine selected as a site for the Community College of Maine Instruc-tional Television System by the Department of Educational and Cultural Ser-G'stock, W. Paris vices. The school was selected as a result of a competitive application process.

Local interest in the interactive television system has been evident since the University of Maine first announced the proposed method of increasing accessibility to university programs over a year ago. SAD #44 Adult and Communiy Education Director Cathy Newell kept in touch with the development of the system and prepared the SAD #44 apolication for site status. The application was accompanied by letters of support from the Bethel Area Health Center, Sunday River Ski Resort, Gould Academy, Town of Newry, SAD #44 Staff Development Team, Bethel Historical Society, Senator Ed Erwin, Town of Bethel, Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce, and Western Mountains Alliance.

According to the proposal submitted by SAD #44, the Lecture Hall and Room 98 will be wired to serve as ITV classrooms when not in use during the school day. The University of Maine system is still negotiating with a vendor for the transmission facilities of the system. Installation of equipment at local sites is expected during the coming year.

According to Superintendent of Schools Dewaine Craig, SAD #44 is honored to have been selected to be part of this exciting new instructional medium. He looks forward to the opportunities it will afford residents of the area.

Mrs. Hutchins said, however, that Grassroots' rates were higher and the network channels it offered were not the Maine channels people were used to. Grassroots offered a basic package of 18 channels for $20. A State Cable spokesman said his company was negotiating with CMP and Contel for permission to string cable on the utility poles in Roxbury, Rumford Point and Hanover. He did not know when the franchise agreement with Andover might be concluded, but-once approved-the work of stringing cable could be done along with the cable going to the other nearby towns. All the signals for customers in this area would originate at the main reception point, in Rumford, he said. Speaking of the starting date for service in the neighboring towns, he said he hoped the cable could all be in place by next spring.

Olde Home Days fun for those who braved heat

While the sweltering heat and booming thunderstorms of this "greenhouse effected" summer tended to dampen much of the public's enthusiasm for a day under the sun, those people who did attend Andover's Olde Home Days celebration last weekend found it as homey and congenial as ever.

Nevertheless, the record-setting crowds of last year were nowhere to be seen. Whereas last year the crowd may have approached 5,000, this year there were probably not half that number. Still, there were enough to cause a run on the Andover Fire Department's famous barbecued chicken dinnersto eat in the fire station or take out under a shade tree. The firefighters sold out all 400 dinners, and there was a line of hungry diners from 11 a.m. until the last dinner was sold. Also selling out fast were the homemade foods and the cookie walk presented by the ladies of the Congregational Church. By noon on Saturday the foods were gone. Some 70 antique and classic autos showed up for the auto show at Akers' field, and about a dozen of them cranked up and led the parade up Main Street The parade's theme was "Days of Yesteryear," and the Andover Library won the float contest by presenting a

'Change-of-use' issue back to planning board

The issue that caused the Appeals Board to meet last month-the changeof-use clause in Bethel's new Site Plan Review Ordinance—will be tackled by the Bethel Planning Board again.

The story began last spring, when Brian and Sandy Strickland-owners of the Naimey Block-declined to apply for a permit for changing their RFD #1 Restaurant into a barber shop and retail store. The Appeals Board was called upon to decide the issue and did so last month, declaring that the Stricklands should have applied for a permit under the Site Plan Review Ordinance since their change-of-use was a provision covered by the ordinance. The Stricklands are expected to apply for a permit for the change-of-use at tonight's Planning Board meeting, which begins at 7 p.m., at Telstar Regional High School. The question of exactly what constitutes a change-of-use, however, is still very much up in the air and was part of the discussion of the Planning Board last

This official said a number of local people have volunteered large donations to purchase the expensive equipment that a football program would require.

Where was CMP?

At Andover's Olde Home Days celebration last weekend, one of the groups most in evidence—both in the parade and on the Common was No Thank-Q Hydro-Quebec. This group has led the opposition to Central Maine Power Company's proposal to import power from Canada and recently organized an Andover chapter.

Andover residents would be among those penalized for the power import by having to live with an unsightly, and possibly harmful, string of high-voltage towers through town. The line of 120-foot high steel towers would extend from the Canadian border 90 miles through western Maine.

And for what? So that CMP can import a few hundred megawatts of-what the company calls-dependable and relatively cheap power. CMP first proposed importing up to 1,000 megawatts of power, even though Maine customers only needed half that amount, according to CMP's projections. Challenged as to why the importation was to be double the projected need, CMP officials downplayed the idea that the importation was really meant to benefit out-of-state customers. They said, rather, that the 1,000-megawatt deal was the smallest amount the Candadians would sell at the agreed-upon 9.5-cent per kilowatt

Recently, as potential out-of-state customers have dwindled, CMP has said it would like to import just 300 megawatts of power. No more talk by CMP officials of a 1,000-megawatt minimum.

If you feel that CMP has not been open about what its plans are for the power importation, you're probably on the right track. And maybe that's why CMP was not at Andover's Olde Home Days celebration trying to win friends and influence people. While the No Thank-Q Hydro-Quebec forces were getting hundreds of signatures on their antipowerline petitions, CMP officials were nowhere to be seen.

It seems that while the opposition is working with the people who live in the area, the CMP strategy is to concentrate on the legislators and bureacrats who live outside the area—but who will ultimately have the responsibility for approving (or disapproving) the project.

The state Public Utilities Commission is expected to give its recommendation this fall. The state Legislature is expected to voice feelings on the project—which could include overturning a PUC rejection thereafter. The state Department of Environmental Protection still must rule on environmental considerations, and the federal government must still grant an import permit. Disregarding concerns of the citizenry, CMP officials are spending their time—and money—lobbying those whom they figure have the power. This strategy may yet backfire on CMP if the people decide to speak out.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

This letter is from one concerned family who could be living extremely close to a very dangerous and unnecessary powerline-the Central Maine Power HVDC transmission tie to Hydro-Quebec. For background information, my husband has had total kidney failure since 1982 and has had a successful kidney transplant for one year after years of dialysis. We have three children, are very health-conscious people and have spent many years searching for a vacation getaway in Maine that would fit our wants and needs-no barking dogs, no neighbors, no electricity, just clean pure rivers in the middle of the mountains in

"unspoiled" unorganized territory. We own our camp and lease the land from the State of Maine. We live directly across the street from the Appalachian Trail, which includes the flume and cataracts. We were recently advised and proudly made the only leasehold locked into a newly created or organized area called the "Mahoosuc Management Unit," a Public Reserved Lands System. * As a lessee with the State of Maine and as a leaseholder in the Mahoosuc Management Unit, we are very alarmed and upset with the possible construction of the Central Maine Power HVDC transmission tie to Hydro-Quebec. Our concerns are as follows:

Pollution to Frye Brook and the west branch of the Ellis River because of the many small tributaries which run directly into such. Frye Brook is included as a protected riparian zone in the Unit. . The Mahoosuc Management Unit must be protected and left in its intended condition. The proposed western corridor of the powerline could run into or be very close to this so-called protected

The recent study done for the town by DuBois & King estimated a cost of $1.3 million for rebuilding the plant. The municipal sewer serves just over 400 customers.

Town Manager Rodney Lynch met with Mr. Fontaine nearly two weeks ago and told the Board of Selectmen last week that he would be presenting a schedule of work to the DEP in order to satisfy their concerns.

Mr. Fontaine confirmed Mr. Lynch's report of the meeting, "We said, 'Give us a schedule; give us a plan. We're looking for a big fix."

Mr. Fontaine told The Citizen his agency did not necessarily expect the town to spend the $1.3 million on repairs all at once. He said the agency would be satisfied if the town rebuilt the plant component by component over a period of a few years.

However, until the plant is improved, he warned, the agency would frown on additional hook-ups, except those of an emergency nature-such as where a septic system is overflowing. "The prohibition stays on until the treatment plant is in compliance," he said. "There's no sense in making a bad condition worse,"

Mr. Lynch is expected to present the town's schedule of work on Oct. 1. If acceptable to the DEP, this promise of what the town will do would become the basis of a consent agreement among the town, the DEP and the attorney general's office, Mr. Fontaine said. He noted that his agency had recently signed a similar consent agreement with

To the Editor:

I am writing in response to the letter from Lauretta Varo in the Aug. 3 issue. I agree with all she said, and I have a few more ideas to add. The first time I saw Ronald McDonald in the Mollyockett Day parade I knew we were in trouble. I, too, have never had a problem finding a really good burger locally and have taken added pleasure in the knowledge that my purchase was benefiting a local merchant and Maine producers and suppliers. On the other hand, a burger bought from Ronald not only doesn't support local merchants, but it contributes to a much larger, more frightening chain of events. McDonald's buys all of its beef from South America, thereby contributing to the permanent destruction of hundreds of thousands of acres of rainforest and the subsequent negative consequences to world weather patterns, migratory birds, and more.

I moved to Bethel because it is rural, quiet, friendly. I like the fact that there are no traffic lights for 20 miles and that the crowds and confusion and impersonality of the city are things I can take in small doses when, as, and if I feel a need to visit Lewiston or Portland.

Frankly, I get a little impatient with those who come here to escape the hustlebustle of the city and then complain about the lack of conveniences. Bethel with super-supermarkets and fast food chains would not be Bethel. Having to drive a little farther or wait a little longer for some goods and services is part of the price I willingly pay for Bethel as it is. I realize that everyone has to make a living. In doing so, however, one should display a sense of responsibility to the world around him. Certainly the realtors in any community must show a sensitivity to the character and integrity of that community and work to maintain, rather than destroy, what is, after all, their bread and butter. It's time we all recognized that not all growth and development is progress. Some of it is downright degradation. Let's hope that Bethel is not degraded by the wrong kind in protecting local lakes The fledgling Community Lakes Association of Greenwood and Woodstock is devoting its initial efforts to public education and legislative action on issues affecting the environmental health and wellbeing of the towns' nine lakes and ponds.

G-W Lakes Association plans positive role .

The association was formally organized last year and held its first annual meeting in September, but preliminary organizational work had been going on for more than a year prior to that. The association now has more than 200 members, a nine member executive board and standing committees on education and legislation. According to association President Mike Giunta, a summer resident of Round Pond, the organization also has more than $1,000 in its treasury. The membership is drawn largely, but not exclusively, from owners of shorefront property. "You don't have to own a camp or a house on the shore to be concerned about protecting the lakes. "The association's goal is to maintain, and where possible improve, the quality of the lakes," he said. "We are still trying to determine what would be the most effective role to play in the community. We do know that we want to be proactive, to present a positive program. We don't want to be simply naysayers." As an example of positive action, Mr. Giunta points to the association's public education campaign to raise the sensitivity of people using the lakes regarding the damage caused by careless use of such everyday items as fertilizers, soap, garbage and gasoline and oil.

In May the association sponsored a public meeting with Larry Cummings, chief warden of the Department of Inland Fisheries and Wildlife, who discussed the rules and regulations governing boat use

The association is also sponsoring an essay contest, with $300 in prizes, open to all students in SAD #11-"to help raise the consciousness of the future generation of lake users," Mr. Giunta said. It also plans to soon distribute literature in local libraries and stores. Mr. Giunta acknowledges the difficulty of reaching some of the worst lake abusers-for example, transients who put in at the public landings and spend a beery day ripping around the lakes in overpowered outboards. 'They endanger swimmers, cause erosion along the shore and stir up the bottom," he said. "In a few years, they'll come in here and say 'what a dump' and then go somewhere else. They'll be gone, but our children will have to live with the But not all the offenders are from away. For example, the phosphates in detergents and many soaps pose a serious threat to the ecological balance of the lakes, yet local people continue to wash their boats, their cars, their pets and themselves in the lakes. "Two girls who live nearby were just down here shaving their legs," he recounted, "It seems insignificant, but it's part of a pattern of abuse which can ruin the lake by the time their children will want to use it." The association's legislative action has so far been limited to meeting with local selectmen, but Mr. Giunta said he expects a legislative agenda to be developed at the second annual meeting (scheduled for Sept. 3). The legislation committee will then be able to represent themselves as speaking for the membership when they meet with legislators and state officials, he said.

The association also plans to work with Greenwood and Woodstock in attempting to locate and purchase a more adequate beach for the use of residents who are not fortunate enough to own property on the shorefront, Mr. Giunta said.

"Over the years a number of ideal pieces have come up for sale, but now it's gotten to the point where only the very rich can meet the prices being asked. Local people are losing their lakes, and that's outrageous."

G-W transfer station

Both the Greenstock and West Paris transfer stations are currently shipping their solid waste to the Norridgewock facility. But the Greenstock station is doing so without a contract, and the status of the West Paris contract is "somewhat fuzzy"-in the words of Selectman Duane Greenwood Selectwoman Marie Bartlett said she has placed a number of calls to CWS President Alva Achorn since the Greenstock contract expired in June, but that he has not yet discussed terms for a new contract.

"When I last talked to him, he said: 'Give me two or three weeks,' Mrs. Bartlett said, "I'm still waiting to hear back from him.'

Because of restrictions placed by BEP on the amount of out-of-state trash that can be accepted in the landfill expansion, Mr. Achorn has said CWS is signing no new contracts with municipalities and beginning in January will no longer accept waste from municipalities without contract, Mrs. Bartlett said, the cost would certainly be higher than under the old contract, and it's unclear how long the contract would be for. "Everything is up in the air," she said.

West Paris officials face similar uncertainties. The contract for the West Paris transfer station expired in April but contained an "automatic renewability" clause for one year, Mr. Abbott said. "But there are a lot of 'if's," he added.

West Paris officials have attempted to discuss a new contract with CWS, Mr. Abbott said, but because of uncertainties surrounding the status of the Norridgewock landfill, CWS officials "really weren't interested in talking yet." The only certainty in the whole matter, both Mr. Abbott and Mrs. Bartlett agree, is that costs are going up. "Whatever happens, we're looking at a substantial increase in rate," Mr. Abbott said.

FEDS GIVE STATE $61 MILLION Maine's Congressional delegation announced this week that various companies, organizations, agencies and municipalities in the state were awarded over $61 million in federal grants and contracts during the month of June.

While the largest single sum went for a Navy contract with Bath Iron Works, there were scores of other grants, including one from the Environmental Protection Agency for $3 million to the Town of Washburn for the design and construction of sewer system equipment.

the Town of Newry hereby declare that an emergency exists affecting general health, welfare, community life and the public peace."

One of the organizers of the petition drive said it was the recent announcement by the Bethel selectmen that they were considering closing the landfill to neighboring towns that gave the impetus to press for the moratorium.

At Tuesday's Board of Selectmen meeting, it was decided to hold a public hearing on the moratorium proposal on Aug. 29 and to put it to a vote at a special town meeting Sept. 12.

Other matters on tonight's Planning Board agenda include a sketch presentation by Ted Chadbourne, a Site Plan Review application by Jackie Mayo for a beauty salon, a Shoreland Zoning application by Jim Moir, a change-of-use by Betsy Cooper and a discussion on parking for a proposed restaurant at the Riverview Motel.

Newry selectmen see their town paying more of school budget

Newry's preliminary state valuation showed the largest increase of any town in SAD #44. (See last week's Citizen for complete listing of area towns' preliminary state valuations.)

Newry selectmen calculate that, given the new valuations Andover would pay 14.9 percent of the school district assessement, Bethel 31.9 percent, Greenwood 14.3 percent, Newry 23.3 percent, and Woodstock 15.6 percent.

As of April 1 there were 1,009 pupils n the five towns of SAD #44. At that time Andover had 181 (17.94 percent), Bethel 432 (42.82 percent), Greenwood 135 (13.38 percent), Newry 59 (5.85 percent) and Woodstock 202 (20.01 percent). The total assessment for the five towns in the district for FY '89, less Adult Ed, was $2,032,578 or an average of $2,064 per pupil. Without any increase in the school budget for FY '90, Newry would still have an increase of 51.2 percent in the school assessment, including Adult Ed. With the new valuations, and using the FY '89 figure and the number of pupils as of April 1, Newry selectmen calculate that the FY '90 assessments to towns would be Andover $310,869 ($1,717 per pupil), Bethel $665,383 ($1,540 per pupil), Greenwood $297,806 ($2,206 per pupil), Newry $485,241 ($8,224 per pupil) and Woodstock $325,715 ($1,612 per pupil). The above figures do not include Adult

FY '89 per pupil costs were Andover $2,843, Bethe! $1,533, Greenwood, $2,203, Newry $5,531 and Woodstock $1,718, the Newry selectmen noted.

Heat wave sends people to beaches and in search of scarce air conditioners

It's not the heat, it's the humidity, they say. But what do they know. In western Maine it seemed to be the heat and the humidity that was making people almost long for winter.

Not all people, however. David Salway. of Albany, professed to be enjoying the seemingly endless series of 90-degreesplus days. "It keeps you loose," he said. For most people, the water or an air conditioned house was the place to be. Tom House, of Bryant Pond, said even his girls were staying inside—as was he. when not working. "I got an air conditioner in there," he said. "I ain't foolish." In fact, he was smart enough to purchase his air conditioner a couple of years ago. This summer-unless one acted weeks ago, the units are gone.

"Would you believe we've been wiped out for three weeks," Jeri Brooks, of Brooks Bros. Hardware, wondered aloud. "They're back-ordered, but we just can't get them." Brother Jack said he sold all 10 that the store had and could have sold 50. He noted that a few years back the store wouldn't have sold one. With air conditioners unavailable, many turned to electric fans. Brooks Bros. sold out its stock of nearly 40 of those as well. They hope to have more

For those who went to nearby towns looking for air conditioners, the story was the same. Mark Prevost, manager of Bouffard's, in Rumford, said "If I'd have had 300 of them I could have sold them all." As things turned out, he sold 50. which was all he could get hold of. "There's none to be found. We've had four calls this morning and it's just 10 [minutes] past [nine]. It's incredible." At Stanley's Furniture, in Rumford, owner Rob Dupill said people should have thought ahead at the beginning of the summer instead of waiting until it was too late. "They're now history and there's no more to be had," he said. Through wheeling and dealing he did manage to get a second shipment, but they went as quickly as the first shipment. All told, he sold about 100, compared to a normal summer run of 45-50.

At Top Furniture, in Berlin, N.H. the story was the same. They've been sold out for a month.

The Bethel selectmen held their first session in their new meeting room last week, and Chairman Arlan Jodrey said it would be their last session there unless the temperature was cooled some. Fortunately for them, last Wednesday's Citizen had an air conditioner for sale in the classifieds. The town office bought it right up and it was installed and running last Thursday.

The Bethel Area Health Center reported a number of people coming in for heat exhaustion. A nurse said the warning signs of this problem are tiredness, paleness, perspiring and weakness in the legs. The remedy is to get out of the sun, cool off with a fan, drink liquids—especially salt water.

Should the person be suffering from heat stroke, the body should be cooled down quickly and medical assistance should be sought. The warning signs of heat stroke are red complexion and dry skin. The health center nurse said, however, that she has not seen any cases of heat stroke so far this summer.

GEORGIA'S DAIRY JOY SOLD Georgia's Dairy Joy, in the Steam Mill section of Bethel, has been sold to a Florida couple.

Georgiana and Ken Hamel sold their popular ice cream and snack counter to Cheryl and Richard Breau, of Ft. Myers, Fla. Mr. Breau had lived in this area years ago, working for Oakhurst Dairy. The couple has already moved to Bethel. The sale included the dairy bar and the adjacent garage, which most recently was being leased by a rug dealer from New Hampshire.

The agency that handled the sale was Early Real Estate. Joe Gaidis obtained the listing, while Don Taylor concluded

Al Saunders scheduled to face trial in October

A date of Oct. 31 has tentatively been set for the trial of Alfred Saunders, of Bethel, on the charge that he murdered his second wife, Joan, in February 1981. Mr. Saunders has been held at the Oxford County Jail since last August, when State Police discovered Joan Saunder's body buried beneath the concrete floor in the basement of their former home on Bird Hill in Bethel.

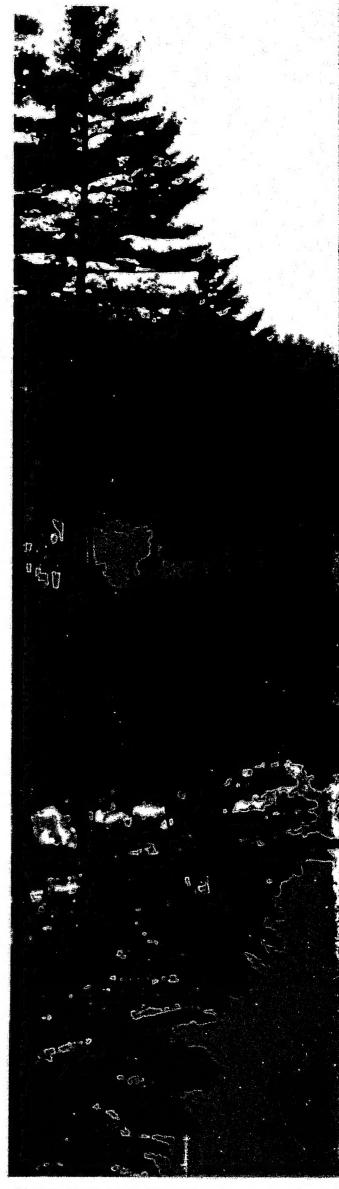

An autopsy revealed that Mrs. Saunders died from two wounds from a .12 guage shotgun. The state charges that Mr. Saunders shot her, then buried her to cover up the murder. He admits to burying her body, but contends that she shot herself during a domestic argument and that he buried her in order to protect their two young Mr. Saunders' trial is scheduled to be held in the Oxford County Superior Court. However, his court-appointed attorney, E. James Burke, of Lewiston, has filed a motion for a change of venue. If that motion is approved, Mr. Saunders' trial would be moved from Oxford County, and the date would probably be pushed back still further.

Mr. Saunders was held without bail until May of this year, when he was ruled eligible for bail. The terms of the bail required that he raise $175,000 in actual cash, or that he find people willing to post $700,000 in surety property.

Within a week of the ruling, friends of Mr. Saunders had agreed to post $150,000 worth of property, but Superior Court Clerk Donna Howe reports that since that time he has been able to raise only an additional $20,000, leaving him well short of the amount necessary to secure his release.

Surplus food sites cut; lack of funding blamed

Community Concepts, Inc. Special Services Director Lynda Haegele reported that rising costs of distribution and limitations on the availability of funds for administration are forcing serere cutbacks in the popular surplus food distribution program. The distribution of surplus agricultural products (cheese, powdered milk, flour, butter, rice and other commodities) has had bipartisan support in Congress and was considered by the administration as a partial answer to the needs of lowincome families in America and as a means of putting to good use the accumulating bounty resulting from the price support system for U.S. agriculture. The U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) program, which is administered in Maine through Community Action Program (CAP) agencies such as Community Concepts. Inc., in recent years has suffered from inadequate funding. especially as the cost of trucking, storage, refrigeration and other costs related to distribution have continued to rise, Ms. Haegele said. She said Community Concepts has been able to sustain its program with the help of over 500 volunteers who help with the mailings to over 10,000 low-income to pick up t families, unload trucks, process applications and assist the 7.500 citizens who come to the distribution sites. Special deliveries are also made to the homebound. "The cost of distribution, despite these measures and the reduction of distribution sites [last year], are now in excess of administrative funds for the program and further cutbacks are necessary," said Ms. Haegele.

Both the Greenstock and West Paris ransfer stations are currently shipping heir solid waste to the Norridgewock acility. But the Greenstock station is dong so without a contract, and the status of the West Paris contract is "somewhat fuzzy"—in the words of Selectman Duane Abbott. Greenwood Selectwoman Marie Bartlett said she has placed a number of calls to CWS President Alva Achorn since the Greenstock contract expired in June, but that he has not yet discussed terms for a new contract. "When I last talked to him, he said: Give me two or three weeks," Mrs. Bartlett said. "I'm still waiting to hear back from him." Because of restrictions placed by BEP on the amount of out-of-state trash that can be accepted in the landfill expansion, Mr. Achorn has said CWS is signing no new contracts with municipalities and beginning in January will no longer accept waste from municipalities without contracts.

If Greenstock is able to obtain a new contract, Mrs. Bartlett said, the cost would certainly be higher than under the old contract, and it's unclear how long the contract would be for.

"Everything is up in the air." she said West Paris officials face similar uncertainties. The contract for the West Paris transfer station expired in April but contained an "automatic renewability" clause for one year. Mr. Abbott said. "But there are a lot of 'if's," he added

West Paris officials have attempted to discuss a new contract with CWS. Mr. Abbott said, but because of uncertainties surrounding the status of the Norridgewock landfill, CWS officials "really weren't interested in talking yet."

The only certainty in the whole matter. both Mr. Abbott and Mrs. Bartlett agree. is that costs are going up "Whatever happens, we're locking at a substantial increase in rate." Mr. Abbott said.

FEDS GIVE STATE $61 MILLION Maine's Congressional delegation announced this week that various companies, organizations, agencies and municipalities in the state were awarded over $61 million in federal grants and contracts during the month of June.

While the largest single sum went for a Navy certract with Bath Iron Works. there were secres of other grants, including one from the Environmental Protection Agency for $3 million to the Town of Washburn for the design and construction of sever system equipment.

Moratorium

public peace. One of the organizers of the petition drive said it was the recent announcement by the Bethel selectmen that they were considering closing the landfill to neighboring towns that gave the impetus to press for the moratorium. At Tuesday's Board of Selectmen meeting, it was decided to hold a public hearing on the moratorium proposal on Aug. 29 and to put it to a vote at a special town meeting Sept. 12.

without going to the bother and expense of a formal application, and it would prevent them from taking matters to the Appeals Board prior to appearing before the Planning Board.

Other matters on tonight's Planning Board agenda include a sketch presentation by Ted Chadbourne, a Site Plan Review application by Jackie Mayo for a beauty salon, a Shoreland Zoning application by Jim Moir, a change-of-use by the sale. Betsy Cooper and a discussion on parking for a proposed restaurant at the Riverview Motel.

Newry selectmen calculate that, given the new valuations Andover would pay 14.9 percent of the school district assessement, Bethel 31.9 percent, Greenwood .12 guage shotgun. 14.3 percent, Newry 23.3 percent, and Woodstock 15.6 percent.

As of April 1 there were 1,009 pupils in the five towns of SAD #44. At that time Andover had 181 (17.94 percent), Bethel 432 (42.82 percent), Greenwood 135 (13.38 percent). Newry 59 (5.85 percent) and Woodstock 202 (20.01 percent).

The total assessment for the five towns in the district for FY '89, less Adult Ed, was $2,032,578 or an average of $2,064 per pupil. Without any increase in the school budget for FY '90, Newry would still have an increase of 51.2 percent in the school assessment, including Adult Ed.

With the new valuations, and using the FY '89 figure and the number of pupils as of April 1, Newry selectmen calculate that the FY '90 assessments to towns would be Andover $310,869 ($1,717 per pupil), Bethel $665,383 ($1,540 per pupil), Greenwood $297,806 ($2,206 per pupil), Newry $485,241 ($8,224 per pupil) and Woodstock $325,715 ($1,612 per pupil). The above figures do not include Adult

FY '89 per pupil costs were Andover $2,843, Bethel $1,533, Greenwood, $2,203, Newry $5,531 and Woodstock $1,718, the Newry selectmen noted

While the crowd was sizeable, organizers said it would have been larger had the weather not been so terribly hot. Participants as well as visitors were somewhat fewer than in recent years, the organizers said.

HARRY DAVIS AND FRIENDS were among the few actual marchers in the Olde Home Days parade Saturday. Most parade participants were on floats, on horseback, in antique cars or on fire trucks. The parade—a long one—formed at the cemetery on Rte. 5 and came all the way up Main Street.

WITH THE THEME OF THE PARADE being "Days of Yesteryear," this float chose to chronicle the Saturday Night Bath.

In the ever-popular Cow Chip Flip contest, run by Woody and Ellen Greeke, the best toss of the day belonged to Mike Martin, of Rumford, who pitched his por-tion of manure 107 feet. He was crowned Cow Chip King. The Cow Chip Queen was Lorie McPherson, who chucked her chip 102 feet. In the junior division (14 and under), the Champ was Peter Peare, of Rumford, who threw it 100 feet. Princess Heather Bernard managed a toss of 75 feet.

In the arm-wrestling contest, Chris Merrill won the men's heavyweight division (186 pounds and up) while Chris Bean was the winner in the middleweight division (166-185); Bill McPherson was the winner in the lightweight division (145-165).

Among the women, Ronnie Pelletier won in the 36 and older division while former Telstar athlete Donna Dorey won in the 18-25 division. Among the younger set, Brian Carver won in the boys' 16-18 division while Chris Durant won in the 13-15 division and Adam Hart won the 10-12 division. Among 16-18-year-old girls, November Yates was the champ, while Linda Salway was the winner in the 13-15 division and Jenny Percival in the 10-12 division.

The flower show, as always, drew numerous entries. Results were as follows:

•Ellis River Walk (wildflowers): 1st, Fran Kerchner; 2nd, Ellen Greeke; 3rd, Julia Bribbin; honorable mention, Bev

•The Common (teen fun): 1st, Jenny Percival

•The Town Hall (gala evening): 1st, Roger Mills; 2nd Julia Gribbin; 3rd, Stephanie Percival.

•The Church (white flowers in an antique container): 1st, Ellen Greeke (also Judges Award); 2nd, Julia Gribbin; 3rd, Jane Rich; honorable mention, Ronica

•The Library (book, song, movie or song title): Childrens: 1st (tie), Charles Kerchner and Brigid Gribbin; 3rd, Carrie Hudspeth; 4th David Hudspeth; honorable mention, Lisa Kerchner and Beth Kerchner.

•The Library, Teens and Adults: 1st, Jane Rich ("Here Comes Peter Cottontail"); 2nd, Fran Kerchner ("Turkey in the Straw"); 3rd, Linda Percival ("Hello

•The Schoolhouse (arrangement in lunch pail or basket): 1st, Betty Miserocchi and Ellen Greeke (also Best of Show); 2nd, Ronica Moulton; 3rd, Julia Gribbin; honorable mention, Jane Rich, Lyrra and Yrral Yates, Charles Kerchner, Lisa Kerchner. •Flat Rocks (tray arrangements and dish garden): Children up to 12: 1st, Angela Percival; 2nd, Darcy and Daren Morse; 3rd, Brenna Gibbon; 4th, Chad Kerchner; 5th, Jennifer Percival; honorable mention, Peter Miserocchi, Deanna Davis, Beth Kerchner, August

Devil's Den (arrangement using reds): 1st, Joan Wallman; 2nd, John Percival. •The Merrill House (houseplant): 1st, Dinah Cutting; 2nd, Trudy Akers; 3rd, Beverly Swan.

•The Merrill House (hanging houseplants): 1st, Sue Wyman; 2nd, •Mile Square (single specimen): 1st, Bev Swan; 2nd, Beth Kerchner. •The Fair Grounds (vegetables): 1st, Joy Huber and Randy Ellis.

Aside from all the competitive events, there was also lots of plain old good times, such as a dunking booth, flea market tables, a large auction, a fashion show organized by Louise Horne, of

For the first time ever, Olde Home Days stretched to three days. It began with a talent show at the Town Hall Friday night and concluded with a horse show at the ring of the Ellis River Riders on Sunday.

Also for the first time ever, Olde Home Days was organized by a committee, whose members included Jane Rich, Al Legault, Leon Simmons, Bev Swan, Betsy Fisher, Alice Dixon, Debbie Cayer and Judy Michaud.

The beneficiary of the rental of space on the Common was the Service Circlethe town's benevolent association.

Disregarding the heat, a number of area politicians came up for the big day. They included Phyllis and Ed Erwin, DEBORAH WELCH AND LITTLE DANIELLE watched over one of the trinket tables on the Common, aided by Ginger, the dog. The Welches are from Rumford; Ginger is from Upton.

THE ELLIS RIVER RIDERS CLUB held a horse show Sunday, with entrants from all over the area. Above, horsewomen in an English Equitation class put their horses into a canter.

Norm Ferguson, Jr., Ann Marshall and

Gary Bickford. Also showing their flag were members of No Thank Q Hydro-Quebec—the group that is opposing the proposal to build a high-voltage power line through western TOO LITTLE, TOO LATE-Keiser Homes' Rick Whitney crosses the plate with the home team's first run in the lead off game of the Pine Tree League Championship Series, held last week at Perham Field in West Paris. The Lewiston A's had already jumped out to an 8-0 second inning lead, however, and they never looked back, cruising to an easy 15-4 victory. The Westies rebounded in the second game, however, defeating the A's 5-3 and evening the best-of-five series at a game apiece. Game three was played last night (Tuesday) in West Paris and game four is scheduled for tomorrow (Thursday) evening at 5:30 in Lewiston. If a fifth game is necessary it will be played in West Paris at 4 p.m. on Sunday.

This is August, the month of my birth. The month of many things which greet the morning sun as cows trail out slowly to laze away the day. It is that time when we realize that summer is not endless and autumn is just up the valley. A time I have heard since I was very young: "Six weeks from the first katydid to the first frost."

The misty dawns are plentiful, as are the daisies and the goldenrods. When I walk or ride down the road, I may see a flash of crimson sumac. I think, "It shouldn't be here for this isn't

Seeds come to maturity. Nights lengthen, dusk to dawn and there's the evening Primrose fragrance and the Moon of Green Corn. Cardinal-flower, spikes of flame, are

THIS WEEK AT THE Moses Mason House

Approximately 35 hardy members and gram, University friends of the Bethel Historical Society will be speaking braved the summer heat last Thursday ting New England to attend the August meeting, held on the back lawn of the Dr. Moses Mason traditional potlu House. This was the ideal antidote to the feature the presen humidity since a strong breeze provided comfort and relief from the 90 degree Service Award. temperatures.

Speaker for the evening was Jane Radcliffe, of Hallowell, who has spent much of her professional life studying 19th century wall decoration. A native of Boston, Ms. Radeliffe spent her for- that Sudbury Car mative years in Massachusetts and Connecticut, graduating from Connecticut College. She received an M.A. in American History from the University of Connecticut through a program emphasizing historical museum work in cooperation with Old Sturbridge Village. For the past 17 years she served as registrar and curator of domestic and fine arts at the Maine State Museum. She left the museum this spring to pursue varied interests, including serving as a consultant for computerization of collection records for small museums and to Dixfield, in mer continue her research and analysis of Dorothy K. Sma early 19th century Maine painted wall Nancy Butler, M decorations.

Ms. Radcliffe focused on Mame examples of wall stencils and murals in the first half of the 19th century. Stencilling preceded wall murals and was strongly influenced by the work of Moses Eaton (1753-1833). Eaton's influence is clear. according to Ms. Radeliffe, upon the two best-known wall muralists in Maine, Rufus Porter and his nephew Jonathan Poor, whose work was popular in Maine from the 1820s to the 1840s. Stencilling and then mural painting became popular in the early 19th century since they were cheaper than imported French wallpapers, which were in vogue during the 18th century. Stencils and wall murals included numerous American Rupert and Es designs and scenes. This folk art lost its memory of Sylv popularity as Victorian Americans looked abroad again for inspiration and demanded a more refined expression of art for interior decoration. Ms. Radeliffe illustrated her lecture with numerous ex- M. LeClair. Bet amples of Maine stencils and murals.

This is August, the month of my birth. The month of many things which greet the morning sun as cows trail out slowly to laze away the day. It is that time when we realize that summer is not endless and autumn is just up the valley. A time I have heard since I was very young: "Six weeks from the first katydid to the first frost."

"earrings" of orange or pink. Fragrant lavender and white florets of the common milkweeds grow almost everywhere. The farmer doesn't like them but the Monarch butterflies do for they are among the most common of late summer flowers—special spangles until the maples turn to crimson and gold. Purple color has been building up with August's warmth and sunlight: burdocks, thistles, ironweed, gentians and asters which create the most attention:

Yes. August is when summer begins to fray away, the green prime of life is passing but has a still-whisper of autumn and its glory!

It's August in our valley.

THIS WEEK AT THE

Moses Mason House

Wednesday, August 10, 1988

Approximately 35 hardy members and braved the summer heat last Thursday ting New England." to attend the August meeting, held on the back lawn of the Dr. Moses Mason House. This was the ideal antidote to the humidity since a strong breeze provided comfort and relief from the 90 degree temperatures.

Speaker for the evening was Jane Radcliffe, of Hallowell, who has spent much of her professional life studying 19th century wall decoration. A native of Boston. Ms. Radeliffe spent her formative years in Massachusetts and Connecticut, graduating from Connecticut College. She received an M.A. in proceeds with its usual efficiency. American History from the University of Connecticut through a program emphasizing historical museum work in cooperation with Old Sturbridge Village. For the past 17 years she served as registrar and curator of domestic and fine arts at the Maine State Museum. She left the museum this spring to pursue varied interests, including serving as a consultant for computerization of collection records for small museums and to continue her research and analysis of early 19th century Maine painted wall decorations. Ms. Radcliffe focused on Maine examples of wall stencils and murals in the first half of the 19th century. Stencilling preceded wall murals and was strongly influenced by the work of Moses Eaton 1753-1833). Eaton's influence is clear. according to Ms. Radcliffe, upon the two best-known wall muralists in Maine, Rufus Porter and his nephew Jonathan Poor, whose work was popular in Maine from the 1820s to the 1840s. Stencilling and then mural painting became popular in the early 19th century since they were cheaper than imported French wallpapers, which were in vogue during the 18th century. Stencils and wall murals included numerous American designs and scenes. This folk art lost its popularity as Victorian Americans looked abroad again for inspiration and art for interior decoration. Ms. Radcliffe illustrated her lecture with numerous examples of Maine stencils and murals.

This program was one of a series commemorating the 175th anniversary of the construction of the Dr. Moses Mason House, which is the only museum in $7,500 goal. Fifty donors have contributed Maine open to the public with genuine to date. Rufus Perter murals.

A short business meeting preceded the program. President Marvin Ouwinga announced that the 23rd annual meeting would be held Sept. 1 and that the speaker would be Dr. Joseph Conforti, director of the New England Studies Program, University of Southern Maine, who friends of the Bethel Historical Society will be speaking on the subject "Reinven-

The meeting will be preceded by the traditional potluck supper and will also feature the presentation of the second annual Marjorie MacArthur Noll Volunteer Service Award.

The "Artifact of the Month" was announced as a framed photograph of Gould Academy showing the whole school in 1928, a gift of Martha Von Zintl.

The president reminded those present that Sudbury Canada Days would be held Aug. 13 and 14 and that volunteers are always needed to make certain the event

A nominating committee was elected to report a slate of officers and trustees for the next meeting: Charles Raymond, representing the trustees, and Betty Perkins and Edna York from the general membership.

NTL's seventh week of summer programs in human resource development and group development is now in session. Over the weekend more than 200 new participants and staff members joined others already here in a continuing program, for the largest NTL population of the summer. There are presently almost 250 persons in residence in Bethel for this week, and it is anticipated that the total group next week will be even larger.

250 in town for NTL

The programs currently being held cover a range of topics that include communication, staff development, facilitating complex system change, and personality theory relating to organization development.

At Monday's orientation session, Rev. Jean Bass spoke to the new arrivals with some words of welcome from the town and the Bethel/NTL Liaison Committee. NTL's Sunrise Seminars are continuing this week in the lobby of the Bethel Inn Conference Center at 7:30 each morning, Tuesday through Saturday, with presentations by staff members who are currently in Bethel. On Tuesday, Aug. 9, Bernard Mohr and Michael Sadlowski spoke on the topic: "So What the Heck is Socio-Tech?" and on Wednesday morning Romi Little talked bout "Mediating in a Conflict."

Sessions scheduled for the remainder of this week are the following: Thursday, Edie Seashore and Morley Segal, "Why Interventions Work: Personality Theory at Bethel;" Friday, Jane Moosbruker and Bob Lee, "Personal Transitions: A Part of Complex System Change;" and Saturday, Susan Herman on "Developing a Sense of the Larger Community, or How the Pieces Fit Together.' These 45-minute sessions are open to all persons in the Bethel community who are interested.

to see them if only for a short visit. High Street is a rather smooth road now after the new tar being put on but some of the driveways have been left wanting for filling. It seems a shame that the driveways couldn't have been fixed as they went along. If one was paved, they did fix it so there wasn't a large drop off but if it was dirt, forget it. We were lucky and ours is good but some of them are terrible and will cost folks to fix them. Just hope folks don't make anymore of a racetrack out of High Street than they were before it was fixed. They sure don't pay any attention to blind drive signs, etc. Well, haven't received any news from anyone so will call this it for this time and wish everyone a good week. Take care in this heat.

LEAD SHOT OUTLAWED FOR WATERFOWL HUNTING

Maine waterfowl hunters will be required to use nontoxic (steel) shot statewide this fall, according to the Department of Inland Fisheries and Wildlife.

Lead shotgun pellets were banned last year for waterfowl hunting in southern and coastal portions of the state. At that time Fish and Wildlife Commissioner William Vail stated the ban would be extended throughout the state in 1988.

Maine's adoption of a nontoxic shot requirement accelerates a federal plan calling for a nationwide, phased-in conversion to nontoxic shot by 1991. Fourteen other states have taken similar action on a statewide basis. In all areas of Maine, including offshore waters and coastal islands, the use or possession of ammunition loaded with anything other than nontoxic shot will be illegal in hunting wild ducks, geese, brant, coots or

Before restrictions on its use began several years ago, ingested lead shot was estimated to have caused the lead poisoning deaths of over two million waterfowl

BOOKLET GIVES INFORMATION ON POLLEN AND MOLD SPORES

Southern Maine Medical Center, the state's premier pollen counter, has good news for those who are sensitive to airborne allergens. The hospital has just published a free brochure on its pollen count program. The pamphlet, designed to look just like a purse-sized packet of tissues, contains everything the average person needs to know about the hospital's pollen count program and its usefulness to the general public.

Written by allergist/clinical immunologist Vassily Mihailoff, M.D., the brochure describes what pollen is, how people are affected by pollen, how the pollen count is done and how it can benefit pollen allergy sufferers. It also goes on to describe mold spores and their impact upon those with allergies.

To obtain a free copy of this brochure. send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Pollen Count Program, Southern Maine Medical Center, P.O. Box 626, Biddeford, Maine 04005-0626.

Locke Mills

By LORRAINE MILLS

The Greenwood Fire Department will hold a training session Tuesday, Aug. 16, at 6:30 p.m. at the fire station. The Fire Department will be holding its Cow Chip Casino Saturday, Aug. 20, to help buy new equipment. The state has mandated that fire trucks will have to be equipped with several pieces of new equipment and the proceeds from this will help towards these purchases. Please keep on the lookout for further details in this paper and come have a good time and support your fire department. The Fire Department Auxiliary will be having a table at the flea market associated with the Cow Chip Casino and would appreciate donations.

The Bryant Pond Senior Citizens held their meeting Thursday at the Locke Mills Town Hall with a dinner put on by the Greenwood Fire Department Auxiliary. Due to the heat there was, understandably, an unusually low turnout. Charlotte Cole was supposed to play her guitar, but it was decided to forego the entertainment until a later and hopefully, cooler date.

Marcia Smith was due home from the hospital in Waterville Saturday to continue her recuperation from surgery. Ralph Mills plans to spend this week visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Mills. John also is on vacation. I don't know about anyone else but I like not having so many ads on the front page of the paper. As I was looking through it though, I wondered how much extra work would be involved to do like some of the bigger papers do and group them into related sections. Of course this way, one does have to read every ad to find what one wants so perhaps there is a method to this seeming mad jumble.

Apparently I struck a very responsive chord when I wrote about trying to find my way around Waterville. I heard about a lot of others with amusing and similar tales. The one I enjoyed the most was about a young lady, who shall remain nameless, who gave her mother a call and said, "I'm lost." Her mother asked her where she was calling from and she said she didn't know but she'd find out. She came back and said, "Gardiner" Now I didn't find out where she was supposed to be but from the tone of disbelief still in her mother's voice when she repeated her, "How in the world did you get there?" I take it she was far off course. But that is the whole point, of course, if she knew how she'd gotten there she wouldn't have gone there. I suspect many of our problems would never have arisen if we only knew how we got to where we are and had the knowledge to forego that route.

LOVELL HOLDS ANNUAL FAIR NEXT SATURDAY, AUG. 20th

The 13th annual Arts and Artisans Fair for the benefit of the Charlotte E. Hobbs Memorial Library in Lovell will be held Aug. 20 at the V.F.W. Hall in Lovell, at the corner of Route 93 and the Knights

Hill Road, 10-4, rain or shine. The fair's move to a new location is due to extensive construction underway at the New Suncook School, where it was most recently held.

Up to 50 exhibitors have been selected to participate, from various parts of Maine and New Hampshire and four other states. All were first required to submit samples of the work to be exhibited for acceptance by an outside jury. Several have received national acclaim for their work, including Anda Bijhouwer, of Phippsbury, for her handwoven heirloom coverlets. Ken Kantro. of Lovell, for his work in pewter and silver, and Stephen Zeh for his baskets. Some have participated for many years;

others are new to the fair this year. They will offer a great variety of items, including, but not limited to, beeswax products, ceramics and pottery, dried flowers and wreaths, floor cloths and rugs, folk art in great variety, stained glass, jewelry of copper, pewter, silver and gold, enamel, porcelain and gemstones, lamps and shades, leather goods, wrought iron, needlework including quilts and pillows, stuffed animals and dolls and some specialty clothing, painting, etching, prints, sketches and water colors, paper goods, calendars, cards, cuttings, notes and posters, photography, weaving and handspun yarns, wood carvings and

Hand-made sandwiches and refreshments will be available. Drawings for selected articles made by the exhibitors will be held during the day, for which tickets can be purchased in advance locally or at the fair. Used books in good condition will be sold throughout the day at the Lovell Library nearby on Route 5. The Lovell Historical Society will present a display, and from 5:30 p.m. the Lovell Volunteer Fire Co. will serve its annual chicken barbecue at the Fire Barn adjacent to the fair.

Mrs. Barbara Tripp, of Center Lovell, chairs the large committee of members of the Woman's Library Club of Lovell responsible for the fair, assisted by many other residents of Lovell and Sweden.

pumper sees first action

Fire Chief Virgil Conkright reported to the Newry Board of Selectmen Tuesday morning that the Newry Fire Department was called out last Friday evening to extinguish a small grass fire by Rte

Firefighters Virgil and Mike Con-

kright, Bradley Wight and John Wight responded with the town's "new" pumper and the fire was quickly extinguished.

the chief told the selectmen. It was the first time the pumper was used at the scene of a fire, although the firefighters had practiced with it. The pumper consists of a tank and pump placed on a Jeep

In other business at yesterday's Tuesday's) meeting, the selectmen met with

Breoks Morton and Alva Morrison concerning a petition drive for a building

The selectmen also talked with Burt

Mills, of Sunday River Ski Resort, who requested an application for a road opening permit on the skiway access road

The opening would be for a larger culvert and larger water pipes for the skiway's snowmaking. Mr. Mills is experted to present the formul application next
